Health & Resource Fair Highlights

This past week, we hosted our annual Health and Resource Fair for our students. Students were able to network, talk with industry professionals about the various ways to be healthy, and get some cool swag at the same time! Thank you to all who came out; the event wouldn't have been the same without you!

PROJECT SPOTLIGHT

Food is Medicine

In our "Food is Medicine" class, students are learning how to cultivate an Indigenous learning and growing space that helps to address food insecurity in Albuquerque. This class allows students to get their hands dirty and explore the concepts of how food sustains life, helping us to grow and heal.

Senior Capstone Spotlight

Andrew Delgado

Speaking with Andrew about his time here at ACE, he fondly recalls the memory of his first build - a large wooden cart, built with the help of one of our teacher's, in which he pushed his peers around the school.

He told me this class gave him many useful skills that he could use in years to come, especially towards his passion: working on trains.

Andrew said that one of the most important lessons he has learned here at ACE has been that you don't need to live up to everyone else's expectations, or their idea of what you should do; instead, you should let your passions guide the way . In this same vein, Andrew said that his advice to any underclassmen who are working their way through this school would be to recognize early on that the classroom is not the limit. Andrew said that once he realized this, he was better able to take advantage of the teachers' guidance, as well as learn how to better use the equipment and space that is uniquely available to our students.

During his time here, Andrew has been a passionate, bright, and exemplary student. We are going to miss him when he is gone, but we are proud of all that he has accomplished, and we are sure he has a brilliant future ahead of him.

Senior Capstone Spotlight

Yoshi Loretto is the next Senior Capstone student we are spotlighting this trimester. Yoshi, who has made a few appearances in past editions of our newsletter, is a friendly face to everyone at ACE, and you can always count on him to give you a good laugh. Many of Yoshi's favorite memories at ACE involve skating with his friends during lunch or after school.

Yoshi tells me that his favorite class is a Food Truck class that he took with Ben and Alex, and he has many fond memories from this class as well.

Yoshi told me the most valuable lesson he has learned here at ACE is to build your reputation each and every single day, and his advice to underclassmen is to "find your own style and follow through;" in other words, don't let other people tell you what you should be. Figure that out for yourself and once you know who you want to become, do everything it takes to become that person.
